FRIDAY AUGUST 25, 1899.

IN OLD KENTUCKY.

It is generally agreed that railroad influence is in a large measure responsible for the trouble in the Democratic party in Kentucky. It is asserted without contradiction that the Louisville & Nashville corporation is the main backer of the anti-Goebel movement. That corporation is a miniature counterpart in its political methods in Kentucky to those of the Southern Pacific in the State of Nevada. For years Mr. Goebel has fought that road in the courts and in the legislature, and his powerful influence and ability have defeated many of its projects. Knowing that no favors can be expected from this strong antagonist in the gubernatorial chair, the railroad interests are sparing no effort to encompass his defeat.

There are undoubtedly sincere Democrats who have joined in the movement against Goebel because of disapproval of the methods employed by his supporters in the recent State convention, but it is doubtful if their hostility would have reached the extreme of an organized belt had there been no railroad influence behind the so-called independent movement. Democrats in the Blue-grass State are strong partisans, and as a rule are sticklers for regularity. Goebel is the regular party nominee and the party machinery is in his hands. His title is clear, and the Democracy of Kentucky owes him its allegiance. The probability is that as the campaign proceeds, the independent movement, which now it must be admitted, appears rather formidable, will steadily weaken. The honest voters will perceive the influences that are back of it, and the appeals of the influential party leaders will bring most of the anti-Goebel men back into the party ranks.

A SIGNIFICANT CONTEST.

The election of a successor to the late Congressman Richard O. Bland which takes place next Tuesday will be of special significance, as it will be the first case in which the contest is closely drawn on the administration's Philippine policy.

The Democratic platform of the Congressional district declares that "we are unreservedly opposed to the militarism and imperialism of President McKinley."

The Republican platform reads: "We believe it to be the duty of Congress to establish a form of government suited to all of the needs of the territory that the providence of Almighty God and the fortunes of war have brought under our control."

Of course all good people who believe that President McKinley is inspired by Almighty God in his trampling upon the Declaration of Independence will vote for the Republican nominee, while those who believe that it's the devil's work will put in their ballots for the Democratic candidate.

It wasn't an issue between the Creator and Beelzebub, but a question whether the former is an accomplice of the latter, as declared in the Republican platform.

PERHAPS AN IMPERTINANT QUESTION.

A recent dispatch says: "At their annual convention to be held in Denver on Thursday, the 17th inst., the members of the national association of railroad and warehouse commissioners will prepare a petition to the national legislature, praying that the interstate commerce law be so revised as to authorize some legally constituted body, such as the interstate commission, to create interstate freight rates and to enforce their maintenance. State Legislatures will also be requested to exert their influence toward bringing about the suggested revision of the interstate commerce law."

The question at once presents itself, if such a bill were introduced at the next session of Congress, what could be expected by the people of Nevada from her Senators who were elected by the influence of and in the interests of the most hogish, corrupt and unjust railroad corporation in the United States? Would Stewart be on the floor of the Senate working with his coat off for the passage of a bill that would mean more for the development of this State than the free coinage of silver, or would he be asleep in the cloak-room? Would Jones raise his voice and compel attention, as he did once in the misty past, or would he be lost to public view rendering valuable (?) assistance in some obscure committee?

The future alone can tell, but it does not require a son of a prophet to make a pretty close guess.—White Pine News.

The rapid succession of events extraordinary in the French republic is convincing some people that there is at least one nation less capable of self-government than those poor devils of Filipinos.

Joe Ziegler, chief mixologist at Thyer, met with a severe and painful accident yesterday. While opening a mineral water bottle the receptacle burst and the glass made fearful havoc upon Joe's right wrist. Several veins and an artery were severed and it was only with the greatest effort that Dr. Thoma stopped the flow of blood. It was finally effected, however, and the patient is doing as well as could be expected.

Illegal Fishing.

Indians and hobos are robbing the Truckee river of its finny denizens by wholesale. One party captured 200 pounds of trout the other night. The method of capture is driving the fish up stream to a rifle and harpooning them with a hook attached to a stiff wire.

WOOLEN MILL PROSPECTS.

A Letter Upon the Subject from Away Down East.

T. P. Bradshaw has received a letter from Skowhegan, Maine, dated August 18th. It is from Thomas Tantis, who some time ago visited Reno in the interest of a woolen mill company. The writer says:

"In regard to our woolen mill will say that our people here offered big inducements which persuaded the young men to locate their plant at this place and they are about ready to commence business. I am now trying to get some other parties to go out, and have got them quite interested by what I have said about the country, its resources, markets etc. If I can induce these parties to promise to go west, I will send you their addresses so you can correspond with them. I shall go with the first party, for I have felt lonesome ever since I left Reno. I will show your letter to people here which will show that the people of Reno mean business. The people in the east are suspicious of the Southern Pacific company giving them rates which would enable them to compete with other sections. I have assured them that I was confident that satisfactory arrangements could be made with the railroad people if they were approached in the right spirit. I hope my labor here will result in getting the parties I have mentioned started for Reno."

The trial was replete with dramatic statements, as several denizens of the Tenderloin district were summoned to give testimony from the witness box.

A. E. Copeland ably defended his client, but the evidence against the defendant was too strong.

Jumped the Track.

A special train of empty passenger coaches met with misfortune in the west end of the Reno yards last evening at 8:30. A forward truck jumped the track and was badly damaged. The platform was torn off and the front end crushed in.

In an hour the track was cleared. No. 1 was delayed until 9:40. Rosenthal & Armanko, the news dealers, showed their enterprise by bringing the papers down in a hack.

TRIALS OF A WOMAN.

SHE WHO TAKES THE TICKETS AT THE PICTURE SHOWS.

Her Task, While Nerve Racking, Invites a Study of Some of the Curious Phases of Human Nature That at Times Are on Dress Parade.

As a rule the young woman who takes tickets at the picture exhibition is an art student herself. The other girls trying to earn money envy her and think she has a "soft thing." It is apparently easy enough to be the ticket taker at a picture show. All there is to do, apparently, is to sit in a roomful of pictures, take people's tickets as they come in and sell catalogues.

"You would be surprised to see how much work it is," said a girl who takes tickets at one of the big exhibitions. "You have to keep your eyes open all the time, for there are a large number of people who try to run past without tickets. I have to go after people a dozen times a day, calling 'Ticket, please,' and they turn on me with an indignant stare. Most of them then go and buy tickets. But one well dressed woman the other day took up her lorgnette, looked me over from head to foot, and said in an icy tone: 'Ticket! I have no ticket!' and proceeded calmly, on her way. I ran after her again.

"Madame," I said, 'I shall have to trouble you for a ticket.'

"I have already told you I had none," she said.

"I'm afraid you will have to get one," said I. I was beginning to be afraid I should have to get a 'bouncer' to put her out, for I was determined she should not go in without paying. That is what I'm here for, and I am conscientious. Well, at last she flounced out to the ticket office, bought her ticket and put it down on my desk, saying:

"What an imposition!"

"That is one sort of the people I have to deal with. Then the other is the kind who wish to borrow a catalogue for a minute and keep it the whole afternoon. I have to be very stern about catalogues. The best way is to politely look up whatever picture is asked for and to absolutely refuse to let any one take a catalogue for a moment. One nice old lady took me at my word, and I really believe she asked me every single number in the room. I did more than 25 cents' worth of work for her, I can tell you. The worst is telling people the price of pictures. After about six weeks of it it grates on one's nerves. This is what continually happens: A threadbare old gentleman comes to the desk:

"Do you know the price of pictures?" he asks.

"Yes; would you like to know the price of any?" I reply.

"There is one in the other room," he says.

"What is the number? I ask.

"I can't tell you the number, but it's in the other room."

"Then I have to send him for the number."

"No. 221."

"That is $500."

"Why?" asks my old gentleman.

"If it's early in the afternoon, I explain to him that I suppose the artist thinks it worth that; that he is well known, or what not; later I say, 'I don't know.' Not one person in 50 of those who ask the price have the slightest idea of buying. Some will go through half an exhibition and insist on knowing the prices of all. I get so tired of being polite and affable to all these people that by the time I get out in the evening I am ready to insult my dearest friend for the sake of being rude to some one. It's so hopeless telling the price of a picture over and over again and each time having the people exclaim, 'What an awful price!'

"A great many people hold me personally responsible for the pictures. Lots of people come and talk very disagreeably to me about them. 'What makes them have such bad shows?' they ask me. Young men come up and say, 'Isn't this awful trash?' In an accusing sort of way, as though I had done it all myself. And one man fairly shook his fist in my face and demanded his money back. 'It's a swindle!' he shouted at me. But it really wasn't my fault.

"At private exhibitions it's different. There people come up to me and say, 'What a privilege to sit among the works of the masters all day!' I don't tell them that if I sat among the works of the masters much longer I should go mad, but I would like to."

"The other day a friend of mine took my place. A man came up to her and asked:

"Miss, is your picture among these works of art?"

"Why, no," she replied.

"He stood off a little way and squinted at her. It should be—you are worthy of it. Did no one ever tell you you had a beautiful profile?"

"That was a little startling, coming from an utter stranger. Later she learned that her admirer was—the well known photographer. Of course he had been looking at her through an artist's eyes and from a purely artistic standpoint and had meant no offense. But it was trying."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Fire at Weddings.

Fire is an essential in some wedding celebrations. In Persia the service is read in front of a fire. In Nicaragua the priest, taking the couple each by the little finger, leads them to an apartment where a fire is lighted and there instructs the bride in her duties, extinguishing it by way of conclusion. In Japan the woman kindles a torch, and the bridegroom lights one from it, the playthings of the wife being burnt then and there.

THE OLD ENGINE HOUSE

Outlived its Days of Utility as Well as "Beauty."

OPINIONS EXPRESSED IN INTERVIEW.

Municipal Officers and Other Citizens Air Their Views Concerning the Construction of a New Fire Department House.

The most vital need of Reno is a new fire engine house. The matter has been discussed by the Fire Trustees, County Commissioners and the Committee on Protection of the Reno Improvement Association, but no energetic, active measures have yet been taken. In a town as large as Reno protection against fire is beyond doubt the most important thing with which municipal officers have to deal. It is almost incredible how long our enterprising and progressive citizens have allowed the present incomplete and comparatively useless structure to stand. Capitalists visiting Reno with views of investment always request to be shown the fire department, one place at which is usually enough for them.

Of late months the subject has been agitated somewhat, but no engine house is yet in view. How long is this to continue? There is nothing to be gained by deferring the matter longer; now is the time for action.

A number of prominent citizens were interviewed on the subject yesterday, among them being T. K. Hymers, chairman of the board of County Commissioners, Chief Hodgkinson of the fire department, and H. J. Thyres, chairman of the Committee on Protection.
The men who live at the engine house were also questioned regarding the building's sanitary conditions.

T. K. HYMERS, chairman board of County Commissioners—"Prompt action should be taken toward securing a new fire engine house. The old one is unsightly, poorly built and too small for the engine; neither does it contain enough stable room. The Southern Pacific Company, owners of the land, demand either its improvement or removal. We pay the company $5 per year rent for the lot.

"I have been criticised for suggesting the purchase of the Pothoff livery stable property for this purpose. I wish it to be understood that this is only a suggestion of mine. The large brick livery stable, lot and all out-buildings can be purchased from the San Francisco owner for $7,000. Contractor Ryland told me that it cost $13,000 to build the stable alone. It can be fixed up for immediate use by an additional expenditure of $250.
Whether or not this plan is adopted is immaterial to me, but it seems to be a good, sound business proposition."

H. J. THYRES, chairman of Committee on Protection and ex-chief of fire department—"Certainly, by all means the old engine house should be removed. It has been an eyesore to the community for years. An engine house should be located in the center of a town to protect the largest percent of property. I further will say, outside of any committee proposition, that the Reno engine house should be located on Sierra street, between Second and Third streets.

"I do not approve the plan of purchasing the Pothoff property. The price asked is certainly cheap, but the place is not suitable for several reasons. It is too large for the use of the department and it would cost too much to fit it up. It is argued that a town hall and justice court room in the building would help defray expenses.
This may be true, but it would no doubt at times interfere with the efficiency of the department. An engine house should be used exclusively for the housing of apparatus, horses and men.

"The location is not good because in case of fire north of the railroad track the engine would be compelled to drive one block east on Third street to a crossing. If that crossing is blocked with a train, the engine would be compelled to turn back and go west on Third street to Sierra, a distance of three blocks, in order to cross the track. This loss of time would mean loss of property, perhaps life."

S. J. HODGKINSON, Chief of the Fire Department—"The present engine house, if so it may be called, is a disgrace to the town. With every shower the engines are wet and the hose soaked. It stands in a low place, and if removed a person would sink to his knees in the slump beneath. It has no sewerage whatever and is a source of malaria. Not long ago two drays were employed all day hauling rocks and sand to make a bottom or floor in the stable firm enough to hold up two horses. In regard to the location and plans for a new engine house, of course I am interested. With me any location and house is preferable to the one we have now. Something should be done at once, and I have given notice that the Fire Trustees can meet and consider the matter with the Commissioners any time."

The firemen at the engine house have a supreme contempt for their quarters. They are flooded with every rain and every high wind threatens to blow down the spectre-like unstable tower.
Let steps toward its removal be made at once.

Song Recital by Request.

At the request of some of Miss Stan-away's friends she has kindly consented to repeat her song recital at the University Gymnasium on Wednesday evening Aug. 30th, at 8:30.
Miss Stanaway if much in need of rest to prepare for her journey to Boston, but she has been persuaded to present another opportunity for the Reno people to hear her sing. In the absence of Mrs. Newlands, Miss Enid Williams will assist Miss Stanaway at the piano.
There will be a few changes in her program and the tickets at 50-cents will be on sale to-day.

Surveyors Here.

A party of surveyors arrived in Reno yesterday. They came over the mountain pass north of Reno leaving a line of pegs on their trail. The party has been out three or four months, presumably making a preliminary railroad survey. The chief is exceedingly reticent regarding the object of the survey, and men who have been in his employ for three months cannot tell anything about it. It is believed, however, that this is the first step toward building a new road to connect with the S. V. at Plumas Junction.

Mounts for the Cavalry.

Yesterday evening a trainload of horses left for San Francisco, whence they will be sent to the army in the Philippines. The train consisted of twenty palace cars each carrying eighteen horses and a man in charge of them. The load was made up at Lathrop, Missouri. Buyers for the government are now in Reno. They expect to ship a train load of horses from here in a few days.

PROPOSED GIFT TO HOSPITAL INMATES

The "Journal" will receive contributions toward purchase of a Piano.

Love for music is with darkened intellects often a strong passion.

Plaintive melodies in a minor key silence the wild ravings of the maniac, invoke the soul to the eyes of the idiot and make of more wholesome nature the dejection of the melancholiae.

Often rare musical gifts are displayed by an insane person whose other talents lie hopelessly buried.
The unfortunates whose sad lot is cast within the gates of the Nevada Insane Asylum bear out this rule.
Among the patients are a number to whom music gives rare pleasure. Not a few of these have well trained voices and some are expert instrumentalists.
It is a delight to these to gather about the piano at the institution and sing to an accompaniment by one of the inmates.

The only drawback to their pleasure —a moment of joy snatched from a dreary day—is the rattling, rasping, influenza-stricken instrument. It makes "sweet bells jangle out of tune."

Recently two sisters of Dan Wheeler, two teachers in the Ohio public schools, visited the State Hospital for Mental Diseases and afterwards made criticisms that would be as painful bearing far this antediluvian piano as its discordant chords are to those who get within the danger radius.

Now, what say each of you and all of you? Should not these mental unfortunates receive a gift which will make their darkness less plutonian and their burden less wearisome?

The JOURNAL proposes that all who have a charitable interest in these wards of the State, contribute towards the purchase of a good piano. Donations will be received at the JOURNAL office or at Sol Levy's store. Mr. Levy has already shown substantial interest in this cause.

Who will be first?

Bartlett Springs Water.

The Reno Mercantile Company is doing a land office business in hardware, groceries, provisions and especially in the Bartlett Springs Water trade. The company is sole agent for that celebrated water which is used at all first class hotels in the United States. It is growing in popularity every day and is away in the lead of all other mineral waters, not only on the Pacific coast but all over the Union. It retains its mineral qualities indefinitely after bottling, and is as palatable and refreshing after years in glass as when first taken from the springs. A case of it will answer the same purpose as a visit to its fountain head which is one of the most popular resorts for health seekers on the American Continent.

Bismarck's Iron Nerve

Was the result of his splendid health.
Indomitable will and tremendous energy are not found where Stomach, Liver, Kidneys and Bowels are out of order. If you want these qualities and the success they bring, use Dr. King's New Life Pills. They develop every power of brain and body. Only 25c at Hodgkinson's drug store.

Notice of Meeting.

rectors of the State Agricultural Association at 10 A. M. to-day in the law
